Selection Criteria

Proposals should satisfactorily address the following items:

- Description of respondent's experience in conducting property development projects.
- A purchase offer for the property (see attached form).

Proposals will be rejected from parties with delinquent or untimely payment of property taxes. This requirement applies to all entities in which the respondent has an interest. Tax records may be reviewed again prior to closing.

Deadline and Review of Proposals

The Common Council will review and consider proposals on an ongoing basis until one is accepted at a date later set by the Common Council. The City will consider all aspects of the development proposal. Focus will be on the proposed investment in the property, the quality of the proposed use, respondent's prior successful experience, and other factors the Common Council may regard as being in the best interest of the city. The City reserves the right to reject any or all proposals in its sole discretion.

Asking Price

There is no minimum asking price set currently. However, in addition to the offer amount, the purchaser will be responsible for paying the prorated amount of the current property taxes according to normal practice in real estate sales. The purchaser will also be responsible for reimbursing the City for its legal fees (approx. $325) and closing costs in connection with the recording of the tax deed along with forms RP-5217 and TP-584. The purchaser will also pay all other fees and expenses that are customary to closings for residential property, such as obtaining or extending an abstract, filing a Quitclaim deed, and filing a TP-584 form. In selecting the most desirable proposal, the City will consider all aspects of the development proposal, not just the amount of the purchase offer.

Terms of Sale

The property is being sold via a Quitclaim deed in "as is" and "where is" condition. No title abstract will be provided by the City to the purchaser. A "Reversion for Non-Performance" clause will be contained within the sales contract between the City and the purchaser.
